General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR)

According to the General Data Protection Regulation, it is mandatory to obtain consent before publishing any photos or other personal information on the internet, school website, or social media accounts. Our website provides information to parents, children, and other interested parties.

Schoolsoft is our web-based information system. It is the primary mode of communication between guardians, students, and staff. Weekly updates are posted on the activities, often accompanied by pictures, shared only with guardians in their child's group.

We sometimes use images in our printed material, such as advertisements. These pictures may display the interior of the school or students in action.

Our school occasionally attracts media attention, and journalists may visit us to interview our management and staff. They may also take pictures and videos of the children to accompany their articles.

We may also take photographs of our students to create a school yearbook, which their guardians can purchase.

Consent

I have received information regarding how the school/preschool handles data and consent to the following:
